

Waste, Energy & Sustainability: A Net Zero NHS

National Performance
Advisory Group

21st March 2024

Virtual Conference

“Meeting this commitment will only be achievable if every part of the NHS – more than 1.3 million of us – are working together.” NHS England

Join us at a one-day virtual conference, delivered in conjunction with NHS England, exploring where the NHS is at with its 'Net Zero' promise.

Where are we now? How much progress has been made in pursuit of these goals? What has NPAG been doing to support managers across the country?

In 2021, NPAG delivered its first conference under the theme 'A Net Zero NHS'. With the health and care system in England responsible for an estimated 4-5% of the country's carbon footprint, we had a major role to play in supporting the objective, concluding 'the NHS has committed to reaching Net Zero as soon as possible, requiring the support of all 1.3 million NHS employees'.

Added to this, we recently launched a national group focused on energy efficiency, which sits alongside our established networks for Waste Management and Sustainability. The pursuit of a Net Zero NHS is a subject that appears regularly on agendas across all NPAG Groups and remains a hot topic.

Re-visiting this topic for 2024, the conference will bring together an exciting programme combining speakers from national bodies, NHS Trusts and providers to healthcare.

Primarily aimed at NHS Managers and Leads in Waste Management, Sustainability and Energy, it will benefit anyone with an interest in pursuing a Net Zero National Health Service.

Our sponsors

Speakers will include:

Fiona Daly, National Deputy Director of Estates NHS England

Dave Tucker, Waste, Energy and Sustainability Manager & Chair of the NPAG WM BVG

Heidi Barnard, Head of Sustainability, NHS Supply Chain

Dr Tim Ballard, National Clinical Advisor - General Practice, Online and Independent Healthcare, The Care Quality Commission

Mike Burns, Gentian Management Services Ltd

Dr Mike Musil, MD, Exergy

TBC, Crown Commercial Service

TBC, Veolia

*The NPAG virtual conference guarantee*

A virtual event is the most sustainable way to deliver this important conference. The experience will provide ample networking time with peers, presenters and exhibitors.

There will be time too for Q&A and engagement. The programme has been managed to ensure sufficient break times which you can use to step away from your screen or schedule meetings with other attendees.

All attendees will receive a CPD certificate.

A very good conference, it was well presented and managed. I enjoyed the varied content.

2021 delegate, Great Ormond Street Hospital

Interested? This is a one-day virtual conference in association with ReAttendance, taking place on Thursday 21st March 2024. Please complete and return the enclosed Registration Form. Note: The virtual platform is compatible with Chrome or Microsoft Edge only. Please contact NPAG for further details: info@npag.eastamb.nhs.

Click here for more info

npag.org.uk

NPAG is a commercial division of the East of England Ambulance Service

